

WILL LOWER FOOD PRICES TO PUBLIC BEFORE NEW YEAR

The public will get lower food prices in this country between now and the New Year. That is the latest food administration pledge, with the single if the

Dandruff Surely Destroys The Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—Advt.

Band Concert

BY THE UNITED STATES SOLDIERS' HOME MILITARY BAND, AT STANLEY HALL, AT 4:30 O'CLOCK.
JOHN S. M. ZIMMERMANN, Director.
"My Country 'Tis of Thee," "Zaneenik Overture," "Soldiers and Sweethearts," "A Night in Venice," "Luciani-Lampe," "Messa, Glens and Sque," "Selection," "For You a Rose," "Herbert Fox Trol," "Diana's Ives," "Ganne Internacio," "Whispering Thoughts," "Finale," "Indiana," "Hawkeye," "The Star-Spangled Banner."

matter of whether farmers and retailers co-operate with the Government to check soaring rates. The retail grocers have already pledged Food Administrator Hoover that they will work harmoniously toward price reduction, but neither the retail market nor the grocer is absolutely under the Governmental control.

Get Co-operation.
However, the spirit of co-operation is such that officials expressed the view today that the predicted relief from ever-mounting costs will be entirely possible. Millers particularly are aiding, and there is manifestly some slicing of wholesale prices.

Despite the fact that many cities are on sugar rations, due to a temporarily short supply, this commodity and others show signs of going down before the new year. A large reduction from August prices is shown in flour.

Corner Turned.
"The corner has now been turned in high prices," says the food administrator. The bean harvest is plentiful; corn promises a 40 per cent drop on the big, new crop; beef, pork, and poultry feed will be cheaper, and hence meat should be lower.

PRICE OF SHINE JUMPS TO DIME ALL OVER CITY

Did you notice the Greek boy this morning in the shine parlor, his apparently gleeful frame of mind and the added vim with which he slapped his brushes around your shoes to the tune of "It's a Hot Time," or its Grecian equivalent?

Well, there was a reason, as you found out when you paid, for Tony has a raise. The shoe-shiners' union has boosted its tariffs. No more the jitney shine in Washington. This morning in all of the city's fifty-four shine emporiums it is 10 cents instead of 8.

Anton Pappas, president of the association of shoe-shiners; A. A. Mantzouris, Nick Karvelas, Steve Diamond, and others prominent in the business, say that they were forced to it by the pinch of necessity, and that the cry of increased expenses is not camouflage behind which they are getting in on the general grab at the poor public's purse.

Rents have gone up. Some of the establishments are now paying as high as $70 a month, according to Mr. Diamond. But the biggest item is labor. Greek boys, their relatives from the old country in many instances are demanding and getting as much as $50 a month and board, whereas in ante-bellum days they received only $8 or $7 a week and their keep. Blacking and shoestrings have gone up 150 per cent.

LIBERTY LOAN DRIVE BRINGS OUT LATENT D. C. TALENT

By BILL PRICE.

All Washington is happy today over the splendid civic spirit—the all-pull-together idea—developed in the local Liberty loan campaign.

That the untiring of this spirit, the bringing together in a common cause of all classes of men and organizations, and the realization of the future of Washington was a widespread prophecy today, auguring the Greater Washington for which genuine Washingtonians have longed.

No doubt existed today that when Washington has completed the labor upon which it is now engaged, this city will have done more than its share in backing up the Government with money. That is clearly indicated in the temper of the town. With this success there will be a patriotic elation in every breast, but the meaning of it will be wider in the ramifications that will put Washington on the map as a city of one kind, one heart, and one strong arm in everything that pertains to her future and the good of her citizens.

Not Dreamed Of.

There has come a realization of the strength, intellect and force of the citizenry of Washington not dreamed of, simply because the occasion was never before presented when these latent powers could be welded together. Commissioners Brownlow, Gardiner and Knight today rejoiced in the developments that have awakened so much of the real Washington heretofore obscured, but today alive to its new possibilities.

"A new milestone has been marked in the history of Washington," said Commissioner Brownlow. "The getting together of the citizens' associations and of all the able and resourceful civic organizations of the District to further the cause of our country merely points out what can be done along other lines. Many of the citizens' associations have heretofore looked upon their responsibilities as purely local to their own neighborhoods, but when called upon to extend their duties to a wider field, they show a response that stamps them as composed of men of the highest grade."

Every class of Washingtonian—Government clerk, workman, business man, professional man—is watching with intense pleasure the self-sacrifice of time and money shown in every direction, the development of

TAKING A SMASH AT CLOTHING PRICES

Friedlander's Offer Quality Suits and Overcoats at $15.

A crushing blow has been dealt the high cost of clothing by the phenomenal sale of men's stylish suits and overcoats for fall now in progress at Friedlander Bros.' popular men's store, at 428 Ninth street. At the unusually low price of $15 this house is selling garments which are easily worth $18, $20, and $22.50.

Men who know real values and are alive to the opportunity to practice genuine economy are enthusiastically patronizing this sale. These clothes are fashioned in all-wool fabrics, including finished and unfinished Worsted, Casimere, Cheviots, Flannels, exclusive mixtures, Herringbone, hair-line stripes, and check materials. Both conservative and ultra-fashionable styles are included—the famous French models predominating. There is a complete range of sizes in the stock.

unexpected talent and powers in men never before tested in national or local causes, and the co-operation of all elements in the formation of a great local machine that is moving toward sure success.

Modest and Unassuming.
Corcoran Thom, modest, unassuming banker, seldom in public view, shunning limelight but always working for Washington, today expressed to The Times his delight over the revelations of the past few days. Mr. Thom has never been considered an orator, but he has recently made speeches that have aroused large audiences.

"What pleases me," he said, "is that this campaign has developed and mobilized the power and efficiency of the District for great accomplishments in the days to come. Washington is a miniature of the nation and for that reason leads the nation in patriotism. It has shown itself what it can do in leadership in problems of great local importance." John Pool, chairman of the Liberty Loan Committee, was no less pleased. "While we must at this time set aside every other matter, the cementing of Washington for the big things of the future is an occasion that naturally rejoices everybody." Business and professional men said today that the campaign has brought to the front many new figures in civic affairs, men who will be useful to the town for years to come. Almost by unanimous agreement the able work of Eugene E. Thompson, of Crane, Paris & Co., secretary of the Liberty loan committee is pointed out. Working and speaking from early morning until late at night, he has shown untiring energy and keen knowledge of what is best to accomplish the aims of the committee.

Among Best Speakers.
Dozens of men who hardly knew how to make a speech, some of them frightened at the thought of appearing before an audience, are now classed as among the best speakers and orators in the District. Many men trained to address juries and public gatherings have more than maintained their reputations, but the interest centers in the new talent, men comparatively unknown in Washington, who make convincing and useful speeches. Among those talked of are Grats Dunkum, insurance superintendent; A. E. Seymour, of the Census Bureau; Calvin Brown and F. N. Shepard, of the United States Chamber of Commerce, new residents of Washington; William E. Shannon, real estate; William McRobert, insurance; Eli Swavely, of the Army and Navy Preparatory School; D. Fulton Harris, insurance; Charles R. Fullway, of the postal savings branch of the Postoffice Department; Charles E. Matthews, C. F. Consul, E. S. Branshars, E. A. Howles, Joshua Evans, Jr., Harry V. Haynes, and Frank Sebring. Every national bank and investment house in town has detailed large numbers of the best men and women employed by them to receive subscriptions, and the District Bankers' Association is not only absorbing money to aid in the advertising campaign, but is employing men to take part in necessary work. Business men are spending freely to advertise the Liberty loan, and the newspapers are giving columns of space free of charge that could not be bought for gold for any other purpose. All organizations and private citizens by the hundreds are giving money and time to the cause engendering the attention of the city, but one and all they today agreed that the benefits to Washington will be worth the sacrifice and energies.

Maria Barrientos Sings Coloratura Gem

Voci di Primavera. (Voices of Spring.) Strauss. 49171, 12-inch, $3.00

How the heart of Strauss would swell with joy could he hear Maria Barrientos—the most sensational of all the Metropolitan coloratura sopranos—trill her bird-like way through his immortal Spring Song! More marvelous than the singing of a bird because it comes from a human throat, her voice surpasses the crystal purity of the flute. At the close is a wonderful climax—Barrientos and the flute in wonderful interplay.

Stracciari in Brilliant Soldier Farewell Song

Faust. (Gounod.) Dio Possente (Even Bravest Heart). 49214, 12-inch, $1.50

Fifty years backward Stracciari turns the opera scores to find a song of warrior bold that gives his vigorous baritone voice full range and dramatic scope. The farewell song of the soldier Valentine as he goes to war seems as though it were expressly written for these present days. "Even bravest heart may swell in the moment of farewell"—Stracciari, leading baritone of the Chicago Opera, enriches these poignantly touching lines with grandeur and magnificence.
